

Growing up in Hawaii, Karlie Goya was introduced to the ukulele at a young age as "something to do," she quickly fell in love with the little four-stringed instrument, since then at the age of 16, she has won numerous ukulele/vocal and songwriting competitions, which has led to performance opportunities at corporate events, festivals, restaurants, and weddings.

Karlie has fast become known as a creative 'looping' artist, where she uses effect pedals during live performances effectively creating a one-girl band. She covers a wide variety of artists and genres and has fast grown a dedicated following on YouTube.

Karlie's debut CD "Till The End" consists of all original compositions which features the unique sound of the ukulele, creating her own style of "Pop-R&B-Island." Karlie's soulful, emotional, and powerful voice goes well beyond her age, which is displayed in her music.
